

Holistic Health Center 8 - Advanced®

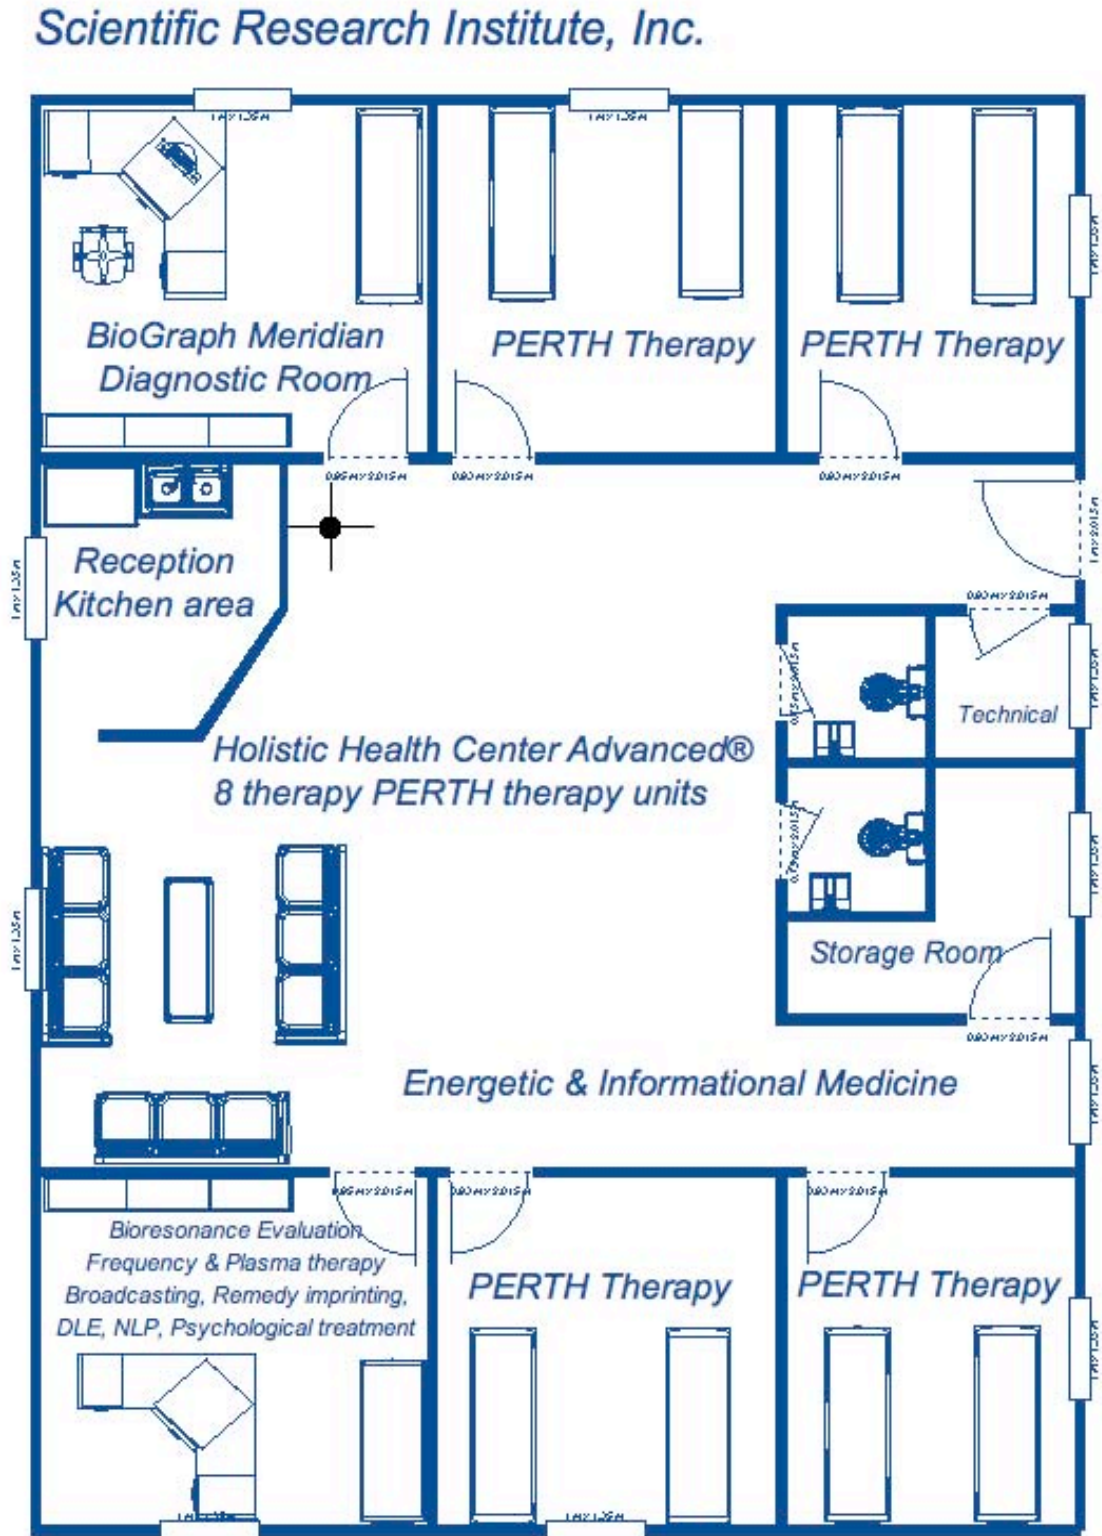

A complete Holistic Health Center (HHC) designed for those therapists and their clients who are open to working with new and effective technologies that increase health and well-being and are not based on the use of drugs. The Holistic Health Center Advanced combines the spiritual and the physical world in terms of healing and self-healing capabilities. The Advanced system is our most complete and balanced configuration of components that satisfies even the most demanding applications.

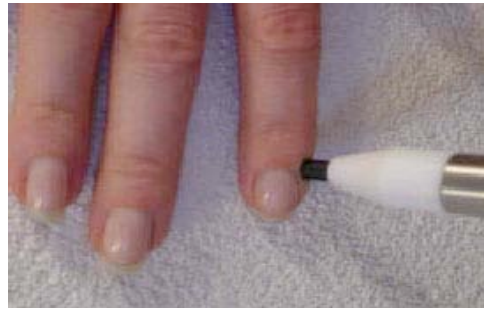

This system includes all the software and hardware of the Basic and Informational version. This mainly includes the Arbitrary Wave Generator that takes over the function of the conventionally used sound card. This gives several new dimensions to the system. First, the frequency range is extended; second, the amplitude is increased to a sensible but safe level; and last but not least the waveform that can be generated are only limited by the software. The included Frequency-Sets software contains over 1100 indications with their empirically determined associated beneficial sets of frequencies that can be applied with one click.

BioGraph Meridian Diagnosis:

A new Dimension in Alternative Medicine.

BioGraph - Meridian Diagnosis is a computerized analyses of the biological energy in the human body. Immediate diagnostic results within minutes, displayed in an easy to understand graphical format.

Main Benefits of Health Screening

- ✓Early diagnosis of pathological issues
- ✓To identify energy imbalance in specific meridians and organs
- ✓Complete bio-energetically picture of the entire system within minutes
- ✓Future prognosis before disease manifestation
- ✓Identification of meridian blockages (therapy resistant patients)
- ✓Immediate treatment of blockages and elimination
- ✓Verification of therapy effectiveness and natural supplements
- ✓Monthly health screening and monitoring of therapy success
- ✓Fine tune of the PERTH therapy to monitor immediate therapy results
- ✓Health screening & energy balancing to prevent any kind of disease condition.

Health Screening is the most cost and time effective way for the patient and the therapist to prevent pathological manifestation, to stay healthy, avoid burn-out syndrome, stress related diseases and early aging. Prevention is better than cure!

Pulsating Energy Resonance Therapy:

Diagnosis and therapy at the interface between Information and Energy.

Electromagnetic Melodies reveal Human Biography and resonate with Biological Rhythms. Accessing and influencing information and energy flow with Meridian Diagnosis and Pulsating Electromagnetic Resonance Therapy (PERTH). by Prof. Dr. Reinhard Werner, M.D., Ph.D., Dr. Roland G. Heber, M.D., Ph.D., M.C.M., Josef Plattner, Ing. grad.

The universe, all life on the planet and the human body are a huge quantum field with only 1 part matter per 1 billion parts of oscillating quanta. These quanta make up the INFORMATION & ENERGY field and flow in our body, forming the electromagnetic spectrum with all its different frequencies and regulating all physiological processes. Pulsating Energy Resonance Fields (PERTH) stimulate this "bio-energy field" through biological resonance with physiological electromagnetic impulses between >0 to 30.000 Hertz and amplitudes within the physiological biological windows.

PERTH P5 - A therapy system on steroids

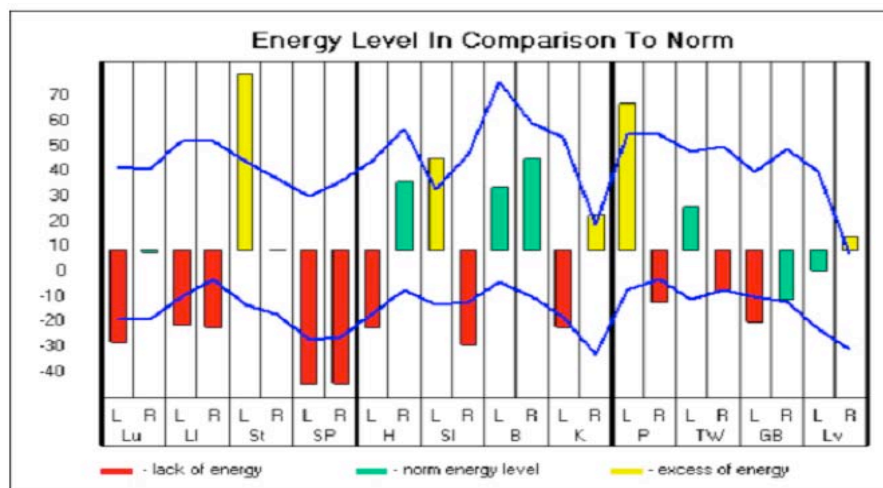

- A new dimension for professional- and home therapy
- Effective treatment of over 200 disease conditions
- Easy handling, no special training needed
- Excellent therapy results with chronic cases
- Over 100.000 medical and clinical studies with very low magnetic fields.
- Cancer and bone frequencies
- PERTH treatment is for every one, every day
- CE and medical certified

The professional PERTH P6 therapy system consists of a control unit, a mat applicator, pillow applicator, head applicator, intensive applicator, pain-box (pointer for acupuncture and pain), power supply, manual, 5 years guarantee on the control unit and 2 years guarantee on the applicators. PERTH P6 has 6 medical therapy programs: P1-P3 for morning, midday and evening therapy, P4 for all bone related diseases and to re-build the cartilage, P5 for the cancer therapy with the cancer frequencies according to the CAFL list and P6 for dental applications. The PERTH P6 operates with over 1.000 main frequencies in melodic patterns „like“ the human body.

The BioGraph - PERTH combination opens new doors for the Alternative Health practitioner and can provide the most sophisticated diagnostic, prevention and treatment modalities to educate, assist and treat the client or patient. After the first measurement the leakage in the energy flow is graphically displayed on the screen. The program gives advise about critical energy deficits and the suggested treatment points. A full body treatment with PERTH can be performed and the treatment effect monitored after 10 minutes.

The therapist can easily develop a treatment plan and monitor the treatment results together with the client over a specified period of time. Diagnostic charts with contact information of the therapist should be printed for the client. A) as reference - before / after and B) as free marketing material. Clients will show results to friends, associates and family members etc.

The BioGraph measurement is easily taken on 20 points on fingers and toes. In case one point is not met the machine gives a signal to repeat that specific point measurement. After the measurement is taken all 12 meridians and related organs are displayed with colored bars for left and right meridians.

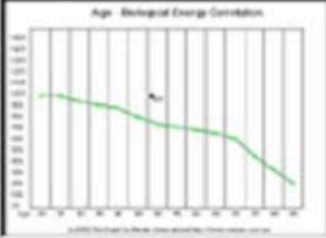

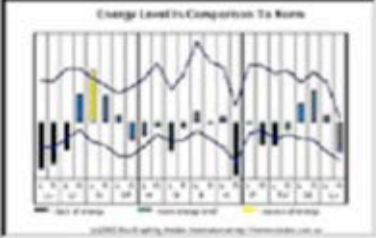

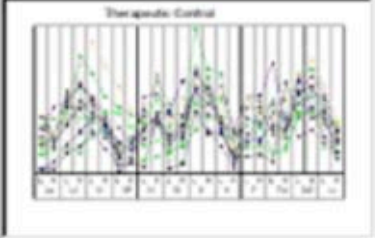

Informational & Energetic Medicine

Bioresonance evaluation, frequency & plasma light therapy and broadcasting capabilities, remedy imprinting, NLP, EMDR, psychological treatment. (DLE)

The Advanced CoRe system, a Dynamic Labile Equilibrium System, is a software and hardware device that is used to analyze and balance clients from a holistic point of view.

It is the next step in the fields of informational and energetic medicine.

What is the advanced CoRe System?

The advanced CoRe system is an easy yet powerful tool that takes a multidimensional approach to finding and balancing psychological, structural, biochemical and energetic imbalances. It quickly and effectively gets to the core of an issue and works on it with informational remedies including homeopathics, flower essences, herbs, acupuncture points and meridians, chakras, and nutritional supplements among others. It also uses frequencies that are specific to the individual in the context of his symptoms and are broadcast using sound, electromagnetism, light, and color.

Who can use the advanced CoRe?

Because core can be customized in virtually unlimited ways, it can quickly and easily be adapted to complement and enhance any practice.

Informational & Energetic Medicine

Main Features:

- Database of 25,000 remedies, focused in groups
- Easily customizable and expandable database
- Extensive category of emotional concepts that quickly reveals psychological connections
- Can imprint potentized information into any substance
- 1100 pre-programmed frequency sequences
- Client specific resonant frequencies up to 2 Mhz
- Ability to personalize frequency broadcasts

Advantages:

- Superior reproducibility of results
- Reduced analysis time, key issues seen in seconds
- The potential for recovery can begin during analysis
- Ability to choose different treatment Aims
- Ability to enter descriptive symptoms and filters
- Easy setup of balancing plants and imprinting
- Readily available, free support and training.

Core is easy to use and has a short learning curve. It comes installed on a dedicated laptop - ready to go. There is a detailed user guide and free. live online training. Core is one of the best ways to learn to see holistically, and while you learn you can easily balance with any informational remedy without having to understand its full significance for your client.

Informational & Energetic Medicine

What is informational and energetic medicine?

A well known informational modality is homeopathy, which we consider informational because in its remedies there is no heat, light, pressure or, from a physicist's point of view, any other form of energy. Prayer and good wishes are other examples of informational modalities, usually most effectively expressed without an energetic component.

Informational balancing can be considered analogous to fix a software bug - making a small change to the information (software code) in order to effect a large change (transforming a non-working software into a working program) in a matter of seconds. The advanced core dramatically reduces the time needed to find the "bug" by uncovering in seconds the unexpected influences on a client's condition, which may come from lifestyle, musculoskeletal, emotional or attitudinal issues.

Most imbalances arise on the informational level, in the same way that an idea or opinion is behind and determines any action. Informational balancing can have profound effects on causes that lie on the informational level, such as control functions of the body and mental-emotional issues. Work on the informational level can also effect issues seen on the energetic, biochemical, and structural levels. For example, if hunched shoulders originate from fear, this apparently structural issue can be balanced via the informational level.

Diagnostically, the energetic level is represented by the X-Ray, MRI or ECG used by modern Western medicine, and therapeutically by the light, color, or heat of holistic medicine. The CoRe's energetic modality directly addresses conditions on the energetic level by using light, color, sound, electricity and magnetism as carriers of client- and condition-specific information.

In addition to the informational and energetic levels, imbalance and balancing can occur on the structural and biochemical levels that are usually addressed by the surgery, bandages, and drug of modern medicine. Because the four levels are connected, the advanced core can affect all of them.

How quickly will I see results?

Because the positive effects follow a reconfiguration of informational connections, recovery can begin even during the evaluation, while the practitioner and the client discuss the results. The effects of balancing can sometimes be felt instantaneously. Even during short demonstrations, swelling in the throat was reduced, sinus congestion moved, jaw pain diminished, and back pain decreased.

How does the Advanced system work?

The advanced system is based on the fundamental principles of quantum physics, on the science of global scaling, which proves the connectedness of things on different scales, and on Princeton University's 26-year PEAR Study (see <http://www.princeton.edu/~pear>).

It is possible to read in a computer's white noise a representational signature of each person, each symptom picture, and each remedy. The advanced core system generates and matches complex patterns to find resonance between clients, symptoms, and remedies, and then uses statistical analyses of the mass of results to rate the probabilities of highest resonance.

Informational & Energetic Medicine

Information

This section introduces the concepts of CoRealms and CoReSpace, which provide a new way of thinking about information and the important role it plays in health and healing and also in composing an accurate holistic picture.

The concept of CoRealms comprises four realms that are complementary but independent. These four realms always coexist in every event, and the state of health or disease is dependent on the state and degree of cooperation of all four.

Using this concept, we can understand that imbalance can primarily originate from one of four realms or levels of the body:

1. The Structural level: This level includes all the conditions where bones or tissues are out of alignment or injured and simple manual therapy can cure.

2. The Biochemical level: When cells and organs do not have the building blocks or fuel to do their work or are hindered by toxins that are not eliminated, this causes disease.... here are included living toxins or helpers like virus, bacteria or fungi.

3. The Energetic level: The body has an intricate network of energy producers and conductors, heat, ionic, electric, magnetic and light, which can all be disturbed for various reasons. While X-Ray, MRI or ECG, for example, are used for diagnosis by allopathic medicine, energetic modalities are developing to balance conditions originating from the energetic level.

Changes on these three levels are accompanied by changes on the fourth level:

4. The Informational level: Changes on the other levels are accompanied by informational changes in the matrix or blueprint of life.... least of all acknowledged and researched until now, this is the level on which all psychological and radionic modalities, as well as global scaling and biogeometry, work.

Different than on the structural and biochemical levels and the level of physical energies, there are no distinct entities on the informational level. Instead there is a store of relationships, just as an architectural drawing (apart from the paper) is not a thing in itself but contains the relationships of a future building.

The brain has an amazing ability to tap into this informational realm, particularly in a state of creativity and intuition, when it discovers relationships between things, qualities and processes. The Advanced-CoRe technically recreates this state of mind with the help of highly non-linear processes that are the result of complex networks (see Hologram Generator). It uses statistical evaluation to achieve reproducible and significant analysis results. The Advanced-CoRe System can access the informational space, retrieve information, and make changes in this space.

Having this four-tiered model renders many observations readily understandable, for example placebo effects or the need for a change of place or for beautiful surroundings in order for healing to occur, both of which are making or breaking connections on the informational level.

Informational & Energetic Medicine

Also, this model makes more clearly visible the limitation of different modalities. For example, if a certain essential biochemical is not received via food, no amount of energetic or informational work will make a difference. Reversely, if a biochemical cannot be absorbed because a certain energy or information is lacking, no amount of supplementation with this substance will make a difference.

The Advanced-CoRe System forms a bridge to the informational and energetic levels and can bring awareness to possible causes of disease that are not accessible by deductive reasoning. It can hint at possible pathogens or the need for certain supplements, point at remedies and uncover the connection of difficult emotions.

Because all changes on the three other levels are always connected with each other and particularly with the informational level, changes on the informational level can facilitate changes on the other levels. If the disease cause is primarily on the informational level, as in trauma, psychological disturbances and chronic illnesses without visible pathology, radionic treatment and particularly Advanced-CoRe treatment can have amazing results.

Spellbound by the science of dead matter (physics), modern medicine - as well as most complementary energy medicine - missed seeing information as the factor that is so important in every aspect of living beings. This happened despite the fact that we are obviously guided more by our thoughts than by our energies or biochemistry.

Any action we perform is preceded by a flow of information in our brain and we actually move energy by thinking and emoting. However, unlike the concept of energy, we still do not have a qualitative understanding of information.

We speak of energy blocks but never think of information blocks, of low energy but not of low information, of incompatible energies and not of incompatible information. In general, just as we are used to applying qualities like good, bad, high, low, dense, missing, or intense to energy, the same must be applicable to information. Also, just as there are different forms of energy there must be different forms of information.

Accordingly, informational medicine can be defined as the science of how to replace missing information, how to remove informational blocks or outdated information, when to administer what kind of information, in the right form and at the right dose.

Advanced-CoRe is currently the only device on the market that combines analysis and balancing on both the informational and energetic levels. Because the Advanced-CoRe System has more ways to measure and measures more times, it gives the most reliable and reproducible informational analysis and broadcast of any device on the market. The Advanced-CoRe System now includes a complete energetic therapy system giving energetic frequency therapy using light, sound, electricity, and magnetism. Its energetic modality firmly establishes the Advanced-CoRe System in the world of energetic therapy, alongside its established place as leader in the field of informational therapy based on its reproducibility, precision, and the customizability that allows each user to make the system his own by adding his own items to the database for use in analysis and broadcasting.

Inspiration

Many years of practical work with devices and methods like Kinesiology, Scenar, Radionics, QXCI, EAV, EDS, Rife, and Homeopathy have convinced us that in cases where I was able to deliver the right information to the body or soul of my patient, apparent miracles were happening.

Informational & Energetic Medicine

All cultures had an understanding that our world is holographic and that in fact to different degrees everything is connected with everything else. Reading Margins of Reality was an eye opener.

This describes how researchers at Princeton University had found in a ten-year study that a test person can influence the output of a random number generator in a statistically reproducible way. This fact in itself is amazing but what struck me as even more meaningful was the fact that the pattern in which they influenced the outcome of a series of supposedly random events was individualized, in other words it was kind of a thumb-print of their mind.

Obviously the first way to somewhat explain this was to say that our mind has some kind of emanation by which it can influence the circuits in the computer. This is the form in which most Quantum Reality advocates would think and argue, but this actually still belongs to the old paradigm of action-at-a-distance through some kind of wave-like mediator.

Someone said, "It cannot just be coincidence that these individualized patterns occur," and I had the thought, "Why not! What is so bad about coincidences that nobody wants them to be involved?" In fact at this point I turned the usual argument upside down when I understood that this test setup is in fact a way to make (Micro)coincidence visible.

Here was the clue to what would prove to hold so many different phenomena together; coincidence, despite its bad reputation, may be the most amazing and meaningful thing that we can experience.

Now, there is a difference between virgin coincidences that are created in the present moment and those which have some traceable causes that go back in history. A virgin coincidence seemingly has no cause, but also it has to have something that makes it different from just background noise, and here comes the crucial point - what makes random noise a coincidence is not something in the coincidence itself but in the eyes which look for it. A perfect random event generator (REG) is truly a source from which any number of virgin coincidence-patterns can be extracted. One can filter those coincidences by mathematical analysis.

This means that a truly random series of events incorporates patterns that relate to the person in whose name the events are analyzed and in fact they contain patterns that would be considered coincidences for anyone or anything imaginable. This is the nature of a holographic universe and the true essence of quantum reality. Take a few minutes to digest that; it's truly mind-boggling.

From this, the plan of action was clear: take a REG and analyze its output in the light of some person and then do the same for hundreds - even thousands - of possible remedies; see where you find the greatest matches, and then display in descending order the items with the closest matches. This is what the Advanced-CoRe System does.

CoRe stands for: COincidence Recognition, CORelation, COded Resonance.

Coincidence is not the coming together of two unrelated things at random, but an expression of meaningful relatedness on the informational level. Assimilating this knowledge will allow you to understand the working of the Advanced-CoRe System as a COincidence REcognition process which finds the holistic state of a client and determines the appropriate modalities and information for facilitating the return to health.

Innovation

CoRe = Reproducible Results

The Advanced-CoRe System has made a big advance by being the first informational device that allows very reproducible results. This technological advance has been made possible by clearly discriminating between energetic and informational phenomena and defining new principles for the latter that can be experimentally verified.

Innovation in Energetic Medicine

Roll the dice thousands of times...

One major problem with any oracle or divination system, and here all radionic systems are no exception, is that if you let the dice roll twice, have the I Ching sticks fall again, or make a second scan with a device other than Advanced-CoRe, the results will be totally different. Traditionally people would be warned not to consult the oracle again because this would make it angry, and the manufacturer of another informational system warns people not to do a second test within 48 hours on the grounds that this would create too much turmoil in the energy field of the patient.

The solution we found at Advanced-CoRe is that in fact one has to roll the dice, so to speak, not only a few times but thousands of times and to do statistical analysis on the results to find the predominant tendencies, and then in fact the results will be very stable, reproducible and independent of whichever process one uses to create this apparently random process.

The Advanced-CoRe System cuts through all the limiting traditions and superstitions that are attached to all oracles and divination systems, and uses millions of samplings for each analysis in order to achieve stable results in its long-term modes.

The Advanced-CoRe System has no need to deny its roots in the old tradition of oracles and divination and instead invent some pseudo-physics explanations, because the Advanced-CoRe System goes beyond them and incorporates a new understanding of the power of synchronicity and it harvests reproducible and meaningful results with the incorporation of intelligent statistical analysis.

Other computerized systems simply employ some kind of random event source and trust that the subconscious of the mind is manipulating the data-flow in some way by means of subspace or scalar wave mechanics in order that in the end a meaningful result can be displayed on the screen. The difference in the Advanced-CoRe System is that it is actively searching for coincidental patterns and counts them in a statistical fashion as micro-synchronicities, thus establishing a quantifiable measure for the degree of connection between a client and for example a remedy, and it achieves in this way reproducible results.

CoRe = Easy Customizability in a Truly Open System

The Advanced-CoRe database is easily customizable and expandable - users can add items and remedies from their field of expertise or background to create their own groups that can be used in informational analysis and balancing. They can create and save up to 80 groups (20,000 items) for use with each individual client, as well as unlimited additional groups for use with all clients.

CoRe = Intelligent Energetic Balancing

The Advanced-CoRe System is the first in the field of bioenergetics to develop beyond the scope of traditional frequency therapy devices with its unique innovation of its two client-specific modes. In long-term mode, it informationally scans the client to determine which frequencies resonate with them in the context of the symptoms entered for analysis. The frequencies with the most resonance are presented in descending order in a table from which the user simply chooses which to broadcast, and then begins the broadcast. In short-term mode, a feedback loop is set up that constantly adjusts frequencies according to the highest resonances - the system informationally scans the client to find the most resonant frequency in that moment and then broadcasts it; it repeats this cycle as long as the user-selected settings allow. In this way, resonances are very individualized and are not specific to an assumed disease agent but are instead the product and signature of the client as a whole in their state of being in the present moment.

CoRe = More than Simple Inversion of Signals

Advanced-CoRe is going in a new direction in Bioresonance in that it is actually broadcasting specific frequencies to the body and then registering the response on the informational level. If the resonance is high or low this will, depending on the selected treatment mode, trigger a specific response from the system. Therefore, rather than just assume that the best is always a simple inversion of the existing pattern - as is done in traditional Bioresonance procedures - the Advanced-CoRe System goes into a feedback loop where it asks the body whether or not it wants more of a specific frequency.

CoRe = Right Information

Right information is more important than energy. Also the Advanced-CoRe System is different from other frequency therapy modalities in that the use of actual, physical frequencies is only one layer of treatment. It is obvious from everyday experience that frequencies in themselves, for example different colors or different pitches of sound, are quite insignificant. What really affects us much more is the information that is carried via these different sounds or the pictures and shapes that are created with individual colors. This is the realm of informational properties, a realm that has barely been approached by physics and has to an even lesser degree been systematically studied as to its effectiveness in medicine. This is the new field of informational medicine, and the Advanced-CoRe System is making a big step into this uncharted territory by, to a large extent, using frequency modalities mainly as a tool to deliver informational healing components.

CoRe = Real-time Pattern

The Advanced-CoRe System frees you from buying thousands of test substances or arbitrarily sampled, so-called virtual remedy banks that contain nothing but the names of remedies. Also it gives you the power of the moment, because just as the meaning of words changes over time, equally there are changes in whatever it is to which remedies or disease names point on the informational level. Using the remedies that Hahnemann found to be working for what he called sarcotic or syphilitic, we found that in many cases they do not work any longer. From this perspective it is not necessarily that the diseases have changed but rather that what the remedies point to has changed. With the Advanced-CoRe System this is of no concern as words are only used as seeds in a process that creates the actual meta-language, which is the pattern that is created in the moment.

Testimonials:

"So far I have had great success with those I work with. They are all astonished at the accuracy of the system and at their experience from the energetic treatments as well. Most of my clients have been with me when we used another device and they all notice the improvement from the energetic treatments. I have also had good results from distance treatments."

Jim Clarke, Meditation Retreat, USA

"CoRe has become my life and I am enjoying it so very much. Wonderful things happen when the Bio-Field becomes coherent. CoRe does this job beautifully and quickly. I used to spend hours trying to find the right combinations of frequencies to bring about coherence in the BioField. Now, CoRe does the job for me."

Sandra Badeaux, Medical Intuitive, USA

"I think you can inform everything because without information it does not exist. Last year I had to travel up to Holland with my car and I wanted to save energy and protect the environment. So I informed my car in this way with CoRe System. My car takes usually 10 liters for 100 kilometers and this time we only used 8.16 liters."

Andreas Lederman, Naturopath, Switzerland

"We have been keeping busy and continue to be amazed on a daily basis how amazingly perceptive the CoRe analyses are. For example: One client who had come to me for help with her insomnia received remedies to help prepare her for a family reunion that was causing her stress. She had not mentioned the trip which is coming up soon. Her top remedy was a flower essence which specifically helps in communicating with teenagers, which did not make much sense to me, but, when I told her she was so happy because she had been concerned with how to deal with her nieces and nephews!"

Jacqueline Sohn, L.Ac., Acupuncturist, Chinese Herbalist. USA

"My colleague was doing some traveling and took along his CoRe system. Upon his return back to Pennsylvania, he noticed that his black USB security key was missing. He searched his travel bag, home, office, truck, etc. with no success. Losing that little black key is a costly mistake we shortly found out. So, with the help of Caroline, I attempted to locate the key with the use of my CoRe which had all the essential components and was working just fine. The following is how I entered the information into the CoRe:

Locator #: The serial number associated with the key

In the blue truck

In a vehicle

The first analysis resulted in "In the blue truck" at 100. I ran the analysis several times and "In the blue truck" stayed at 100.

The second custom tray I made consisted of possible locations in the truck:

In the back-seat

In the seat cushion of the driver's side seat

Under the driver's side seat

In the front of the truck

Under the floor mat

In something within the truck

Under the passenger's side seat

I kept the first custom tray checked off and now included this new tray in the analysis and the results were:

Under the driver's side seat 100% In the blue truck 95%

Obviously, the next step was to physically look in the blue truck under the seat. The key wasn't there. Two days later, I did some CoRe work with one of the assistants here at the office. We haven't discussed the lost key in two days. I left the office that evening and about 45 minutes later I received a phone call. Her intuition told her to take a flashlight out back where the "blue truck" is parked and look on the ground. Underneath the driver's side of the blue truck the black USB key was found after several days MIA. That's our story. The CoRe system continues to amaze us both professionally and personally."

"A client of mine who was addicted to crack cocaine, marijuana, and alcohol ended up in in-patient treatment when he got in trouble with the law. He called me from his treatment facility after several weeks of treatment. He was feeling suicidal and was having strong cravings and urges to use. He told me he wanted to leave and go "get messed up." I asked him if I could try something new with him. I was new to the CoRe and had only been working with it for a couple months at the most, but I did my best to explain how the analysis and informational balancing works. He said, "Oh, like computerized prayer?" I said, "Exactly."

"Sure," he said, "you can do anything you think might help me." I did the analysis and ran the balance for seven minutes. I ran it a second time before I spoke with him the next day. At that point he said the urges to use and the the suicidal ideation were completely gone. He remained stable for several months. The possibilities with the CoRe are endless and I am enjoying the exploration."

"Here and there I have also experienced some profound 'healing' results - even though we are not alternative medical in our focus. A recent example was a man who told me that he couldn't open his jaw more than a ¼ inch or so for a long time (he told me this AFTER the session). Within a few hours after his session his jaw could open nearly all the way without any effort or discomfort. This resulted from my own way of using the CoRe, which is to follow what it is telling me no matter what I may think or what opinions I may have that don't agree."

"I have used the CoRe since beginning of June 2005 for research and the accuracy is quite astonishing over and over again. I love to work with it and I work with it almost everyday. My area of expertise is alternative and energetic healing, EFT, Feng Shui, and nutrition in which I have a long list of training's since 1985."

"I want to express how happy I am with the CORE system. There is no one medicine better than the other. We have to integrate all of them to have a clear picture of the patient's condition, and it is the CORE system that integrates the whole thing. It uncovers things that we do not clearly see at the moment, maybe because it is not that significant to the patient, the patient may not know how to interpret it, the patient is symptomatic and the hidden symptom may be coming around the corner, or perhaps it is a new informative experience in our practice (educational).

Thank you"

Luis Durango, M.D., USA

"The CoRe system has made wonders for me and my patients. As I use it more, I am more surprised of what it can do. I wouldn't want to be without it. I would also like to participate in seminars but circumstances have not allow me. I am very happy about using the system. I use it everyday both to analyze and treat, both distance treatment and in my clinic".

Sigrun Arnadottir, Iceland

"As a homeopath I use CoRe all the time and the flexibility it offers me is far better than the other devices that I have owned over the last 14 years, such as QXCI, LIFE systems and the SCIO. Each of them has its own style, and, except for the CoRe system, they all make you work the way the developer envisaged. With CoRe I can use it my way and personalize it to suit my style of practice. Priceless."

Robert Davidson, Homeopath, England

"CoRe TECHNOLOGY is a 'must' for chronic or long-term problems. It is cutting edge diagnostic technology in the form of an easy to use computer program. It helps identify the sources of toxicity, such as heavy metals or chemical residue in the system, that can impede the healing process and affect health and fertility. I am convinced it is the way forward for practitioners of today and for what tomorrow brings. Robert Davidson has created remedy trays for homeopathy that add hugely to it's value. I don't profess to understand the 'how' but marvel at its accuracy every day I use it."

Caroline Gaskin, Homeopath, England

"My first year with CoRe made me take a quantum leap in my practicing of Classical Homeopathy and Health Coaching.

I have gained a lot:

- * Increasing results from about 70-90% and a deepened confidence from my clients
- * Quicker understanding about the origin of the problems and the pathological patterns of

Informational & Energetic Medicine

my clients

- * Better flow in the client dialogue when using the results of the CoRe analyses as an assessment guide
- * Continued expansion of my knowledge and insights through evaluating the multidimensional analyses and remedy suggestions presented by the system
- * More efficient use of the consultation. I use the frequency healing parallel to analyzing and interviewing my client.

I have spent less:

- * Personal energy savings. After a working day I feel stimulated and not worn out
- * No expenses for buying homeopathic remedies. I produce them myself.
- * Less time is spent on administration and mailing of remedies

"The CoRe system has been a very valuable addition to my acupuncture practice, because I've made several custom remedy trays with all the meridians and the acupuncture points so that when I first see a patient I can diagnose – in addition to the regular pulse and tongue diagnosis I can quickly do an analysis and find all the other additional points which ordinarily I wouldn't think of or I wouldn't even get to otherwise.

Also I incorporate homeopathic and flower remedies and it's really wonderful to be able to do analysis using all the trays and see what the best combination is; again it just saves me so much time I can get results that normally will take me weeks perhaps months, and I can get it in first session.

I find I have many people who come to me in my practice who are very sensitive and actually they are quite relieved to know that I can balance their meridians without the use of any needles at all, this is a great, great adjunct. The balancing is actually in a certain way much deeper than can be done with needles, it's just different, I still have to use the system some more to actually qualify that but it seems to be a more profound balancing especially since I can combine the balancing of the meridians with the homeopathic and flower remedies all at the same time; and also with the analysis I can determine which is the hierarchy which is more important."

"My original practice was the study of holographic re-patterning, and that is about finding out patterns that are blocking the patient to face life the way he wants to face it. So for me finding the CoRe System was perfect because it's astonishing, and it's wonderful the way you can learn more about your patient on the first session and then I don't get that long time on getting to issues that need to be resolved first, what the patient thinks that needs to be resolved in the present time. Yes, definitely, what CoRe gives my practice is that I can get to those parts quicker than with my regular practice and I can have a good comparison because that's what I did before, just to try to find the issues, to pull them out, just to get everything moving; it's as if you have a building and with CoRe you get to the basement so the patients by themselves can clean their own rooms, and what I did before it's just like by cleaning rooms [I] get to the bottom, and what I found with CoRe is that you get to the basement first and then afterwards the patient just cleans their own rooms, sometimes. But I feel comfortable, my patients feel comfortable, I mean I'm treating patients with the CoRe who I treated with holographic re-patterning before, and we just move faster. I mean on a scale from 0 to 10 it's hard to tell but I feel very, very comfortable, and my patients do too. I have a patient with trigeminal neuralgia and she had suffered a lot of pain and the only thing she wanted is to get rid of the pain; but with the CoRe we found out the emotional stress she had that leads her to that kind of pain; she didn't realize that she was holding something from her emotional system."

Adriana Bacelis, Holographic Re-patterning Therapist, Mexico

"I've been looking for one year and a half to find a system which was suitable in our practice and finally I came upon the CoRe System.

The advantage of the system is that it is reproducible in a high sense which is in medical practice very important. Another thing is that you can have a filter working in the sense that you can put in symptoms of the patient so that you can narrow the search for solutions. I always explain to people that it is the perfect system to make in a very short time the perfect differential diagnosis, and from the differential diagnosis you can narrow your search or your therapy to the patient, instead you can make your own remedy trays so working with certain marks or certain firms or certain [of your] own remedies you can put them in a tray and you can work with them. The other advantage is that you can exchange them with colleagues working in the same field with the same equipment and I find it very reliable and very simple to do.

Another thing is that you have four treatment aims, reliable in the situation of the patient if you have a patient with no systems, with no energy at all you can treat such a patient on a constitutional level to strengthen them up, or if you have someone with a history of trauma or with a lot of viruses you can treat them on the inversion mode so in the daily practice it is very convenient to have the tools to work with.

The latest update is concerning a combination of the quantum [or] the informational field with the energetic field so you can treat patients while scanning on the informational field for information suitable to the patient you can treat them immediately on the energetic field and it is unique in this field so patients can also see what the improvement is at a certain moment and they can actually feel the information that is coming in the system and it's also the first system I think that is combining bioresonance with the actual feeling of what is happening within that certain moment.

Another important thing is that in comparing with other systems, the innovation is enormous, they are constantly working on improvements and I think the system in this moment is still small in the sense that there are enormous possibilities to be expected."

"I am a new user, and I have been with my Core for about 45 days, I think It is a very complete system, I have practice with Quantum, SCXIO, Quantec, and finally I got something different and better. My results are about 90% of success, during this days I have test about 28 persons, 10 dogs, 1 cat, 2 homes, it is impossible to believe unless you see it, that is the opinion of the majority of my clients.

About HOW TO MANAGE CLIENTS SESSIONS: I take at least 1 1/2 hour for new patients, and about 45 minutes for second and following visits. Mostly of my clients feels a full relax after the first visit, you can see as a new energy runs in the patient.

Usually I see the patient for a second visit in a week, (6 broadcasts), I check all the anterior visit, ask how he/she feels, and I make a new test. The CORE helps me to understand the dis-balance of the internal energy of my patient, shows me what are their needs or their excesses, and then, how to handle their food, supplements, affirmations, etc.

About other Systems, clients that have used other systems, they feel more friendly and relax after analyzed with CORE, about me, as a practitioner, I feel more comfortable using my Core.

"When I first encountered the CoRe System I received a 45 min. analysis and a small treatment but it changed my life. It has not only successfully pinpointed where I was off balance (had been for years) but also treated it. I helped by getting the actual homeopathic remedies and took them for 3 weeks. The analysis stated that I was so to say paralyzed by fear due to a chemical imbalance. However, it did not at all feel like fear to me. It seemed more like god rational or logic. Now I am no longer paralyzed by fear disguised in good logic."

"One of my clients was a girl who indicated she had a terrible ear infection, extreme pain, and now in tears requesting I please take the time to treat her even though we were getting ready to leave for going out of the country for holiday. When she began crying uncontrollably, I told her I would do what I could. Well much to my surprise, in the integrities part there seemed to be very little wrong with her ear, however the CoRe indicated her problem was caused by tooth #22 or 23, honestly do not remember right now. So balanced the energies in her teeth, nerves and oral cavity, as her "ear pain" just vanished." I told her we were off to Argentina but if her problem resumed, to not go to and ENT, but to a dentist!"

"I was really surprised to find that I slept incredibly well for the 4 nights after we had the 'balancing session' on Skype. I awoke the following morning with a beautifully subtle feeling of a deep and rewarding nights' sleep. I am keen to talk with you about how these treatments can benefit me in the long term. I am already very keen for another balancing session. "

"I have been very unwell all last week and I was able to work just one day. But due to this experience I had the opportunity to verify the core system on my own skin so to say. I had incredible pains in my stomach and I was not even able to stand. The next day I had to take an exam. I received a CoRe analysis and treatment. Results pointed to a severe muscular skeletal imbalance and also pointed to my duodena. I had balancing done on me intensively and I felt much better. I was able to take and pass my exam. After that I had an appointment with a Shiatsu therapist. The very first things that he told me during consultation were almost exactly what the core system discovered. Another thing that came in several readings for me was to use core system more. I am writing this to you because I find all this things wondrous and miraculous."

Laura Mitchell, Teacher, USA

"CoRe OUT of Time

When I was testing Core to see if I would keep it I thought it would be interesting to see what would come up if I ran analysis on 3 of my deceased grandparents and one historical person of whose biography I know well. I ran all 4 on Auto Indicator.

I thought what came up was what they were feeling presently where ever they were in the universe. My one grandmother was feeling anxious. As I was laying in bed that night I thought to myself, "Why didn't I run any homeopathic remedy analysis?" That would have given even more defining information concerning the emotional/mental/ physical states they are in. So the next day I ran the extra analysis and what came up was so interesting! ! It came up with remedies specific to what they needed for the documented symptom scenario that caused their deaths! Wow! I was pretty stunned. One set of analysis even came up with an accurate constitutional and fundamental remedy.

What it told me is that Core can analyze back in time up until the point of death."

"I am enjoying my CoRe sooo much and am getting fantastic results. I have been very sick (Fibromyalgia) and experiencing horrible pain that nothing would alleviate. My Fibromyalgia symptoms had gotten so much worse the past few months.

I thought I was destined to be bedridden again as I was in the 1980's.

When I worked on myself with the CoRe System, my pain was eradicated, my energy level improved dramatically, and my head tremors have stopped after experiencing them for the past two years. I saw a neurologist last year for the tremors and his diagnosis was benign tremor & he said nothing could be done about it.

My program was delivered last Friday afternoon. After studying the tutorial for a couple days I was ready to work on myself. I was in horrible debilitating pain when I was studying the tutorial.

As you know, I am so energy sensitive that I can feel the energy patterns of diseases in everyone's aura. I cannot feel (with my hands) the patterns of energies in my own auric field but I can experience the energies that are being broadcast to me.

Informational & Energetic Medicine

Knowing that Fibromyalgia is a neurological problem, I logged onto CoRe and selected the Brain. I stimulated each and every area to feel the broadcasted energies within distinctive areas of my brain. I was able to discern how & where each of those settings affected my brain. Using that as a guide, I was able to stop the Fibromyalgia symptoms; pain, tremors, fatigue, everything.

I have had Fibromyalgia since an auto accident in 1983. My Rheumatologist said I was one of the worst cases of Fibromyalgia he had ever seen.

Now, with CoRe, I don't have to be sick anymore. Thank you so much.
